

Hartford Historic Building Index Hartford, Connecticut

---

Description

For this extensive historic building survey, FHI assisted the Connecticut Historical Commission in compiling an electronic database inventory of historic properties in Hartford and evaluating the integrity of existing structures via field surveys. The database included over 10,000 properties, listed alphabetically and numerically by street address as well as by National Register name. FHI conducted field surveys to update the information on each building's condition and its eligible/non-eligible and contributing/non-contributing National Register status. Based on field observations, potential historic districts were identified and recommended.
