

Westbrook Coastal Resources Management Plan Westbrook, Connecticut

---

Description

FHI prepared a Coastal Resources Management Plan for the Town of Westbrook, Connecticut, to be used as both a stand-alone document and a chapter in Westbrook's overall Plan of Development. Work components included compilation of a mapped inventory of coastal resources, identification of key coastal issues, review of existing land use and zoning tools, and recommendation of implementation measures for the use and management of Westbrook's coastal area, including regulatory and non-regulatory approaches. Utilizing available mapping supplemented by local knowledge, FHI developed GIS-based graphics to accompany the narrative elements of the Plan. Integral to the formulation of the plan, FHI conducted a series of workshops with the Planning Commission to discuss specific local conditions, concerns, and visions in regard to the Town's important role in coastal management.
